Safe Bets - The Safest Vehicles

Car crashes kill and cripple more people in our nation than any disease. So the best way to protect your family's health is to drive a safe car.

Just a couple months ago the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety announced its Top Safety Pick Awards for 2007. To get a top rating the vehicle must pass tests for side, front and rear impact.

The 2007 models were also tested for Electronic Stability Control. This is a new feature that helps drivers keep control during sudden swerves or emergency maneuvers. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration believes that ESC would prevent 10,000 deaths each year if it were on all cars.

Top Picks for Safety

Honda CR-V
Subaru Forester
Volvo XC90

Honda Pilot
Subaru Legacy
Kia Sedona

Consider Two U.S. Cars

In 2006 the Ford Five-Hundred (now the Taurus) and the Mercury Montego (now the Sable) were named as Top Picks. These models were not named as 2007 top models because they do not have ESC. But they deserve your consideration.

Respectfully,
