It's There for a Reason

Bankruptcy can save your family

If you are under financial stress, then you should not hesitate to file for bankruptcy. The vast majority of working people file bankruptcy for these very good reasons: 1. medical bills because of illness or injury 2. loss of a job 3. divorce and 4. mortgage foreclosure.

The big corporations file for bankruptcy protection whenever they need it. For example, Donald Trump's companies are not shy about filing for bankruptcy protection. Your taxes bailed-out Wells Fargo, AIG and Chase. The bail-out saved them from bankruptcy.

Within about 3 years of discharge your credit will return to a good level. After bankruptcy you become a good credit risk again. So banks and credit card companies want your business.

Here are the names of good lawyers in our community who handle bankruptcy cases: Joseph Basola (423-3411) Jay Barr (875-5311) and Andrew Bourey (422-2400). Please give this information to your family and friends. Thank you.

Respectfully,

William C. Faber, Jr.
